MOST IMPRESSIVE JOINT SERVICE

The service arranged at the request of the National Council of Education by the Clergy of the Anglican and United Church and the School Staff of Strathmore, and held in the United Church Sunday evening was unique and very impressive. Unique in that this was the first occasion on which such a service had been held in Strathmore. Impressive in that the entire service, hymns, prayers and addresses established Christ and His Life and Teaching as the supreme guide throughout life for all, youth and those mature age.

Apart from the prayers and addresses given by Rev. Leslie Pearson and Rev. S. R. Hunt, the very large part of the service was contributed by the student body — in keeping with the object, an Empire Youth Service.

The organ played by Blaine Chapman was well rendered and the Scripture reading by Diana Young was given in clear and sympathetic voice. Miss Violet Hyde ably officiated at the piano, with Mrs. Hunt conducting the voices.

Singing by the combined junior choirs of the churches, the choral speech and the school chorus, all reflected the careful training they had received.

In Rev. Pearson's address, which was for all but directed more particularly to the student body he established a portrait of Christ and His Life. Mr. Pearson said Christ was a real out-door man, going about every day life with an earnest and beneficial purpose in all He did. Helping mankind in every way possible. He urged the children to take Him as their guide and build their lives on His Teachings.

Rev. Hunt in his remarks sought to make clear the goal of life with Jesus as the way to it.

Life's goal he said was not to avoid suffering or pain for life is larger than its losses, but to work with, live with, and think with, God the Father.

Jesus' way of living was the plain way to the goal. He urged the young folk to travel this way with the ever present Guide, thus gaining the confidence of those who can say we are not afraid we are Christians.

High School boys assisted with the program and the offertory.

The church was filled to capacity and the service throughout much enjoyed by all present.

SALVATION A. APPEAL

Toronto. — "Because the Canadian Government has ruled there can be no united campaign by the National War Service Organizations this year, the Salvation Army will find it necessary to appeal to the public for funds next Fall in order to carry on its regular Home Service Programme."

"We intend to conduct local appeals next Fall in all those communities in Canada where our work has been carried on for many years, and hope that our kind friends and supporters will give the same assistance and co-operation that they have in the past."

Commissioner Benjamin Oramas.

New glass which can be cut with a sharp knife but will not break, only tearing like a piece of cloth has been introduced into London.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday, May 5.

The assessment of Town Lots to be adjusted was held over until possibly the Fall, as it was considered too late now to make satisfactory adjustment.

The Auditor's report for January, February and March was read and accepted.

The monthly Financial Statement for April was also passed.

A concrete sidewalk was discussed and it was agreed that Mr. Hirtle be consulted on his return from the east.

Complaints were made that an invasion of chickens on newly planted gardens was in progress, and the secretary was instructed to notify of the By-Law and must be stopped, otherwise action will be taken.

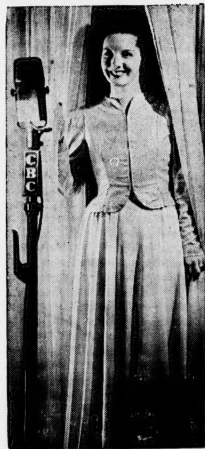

The Handyman was to get instructions re planting of trees in place of some that had been winter killed.

One application to buy a Town lot was accepted on the usual terms.

D. M. DUGGAN IS DEAD

D. M. Duggan, K. C. and for several years leader of the Conservative party in Alberta, died in an Edmonton Hospital Monday, after several weeks severe illness.

Mr. Duggan has been a prominent figure in the Province. One of the strongest critics of the Social Credit Government, he still remained a personal friend of many of those whom he criticized. He was 63 years old.

ORGANIZED SALVAGE — SUCCESSFUL

As a result of the organized salvage arranged for Saturday, May 2nd a surprisingly large quantity of articles of all kinds were gathered in, at the H. Q., Dr. Giffen's garage.

Boy Scouts and Cubs were systematically to make a thorough canvas of the town, and householders had been previously urged to have their salvage articles sorted and ready.

There was excellent co-operation in this effort to help along the cause of the allies, and over a ton of various articles were brought in.

This collection is to become a regular feature for the first Saturday of each month, when the Boy Scouts and Cubs will make their monthly calls at each home and place of business.

BETTER FOOD FOR CANUCKS

MORE VITAMIN C AND CALCIUM ADDED TO ARMY RATIONS

Ottawa. — Members of the Canadian Army and the R. C. A. F. will cut down on bread, meat, and potatoes and stake up on foods of higher vitamin content under an amended ration scale disclosed today by national defense headquarters.

The new diet goes into effect June 1. One of its chief features is an increase in the fresh milk ration. Grapefruit juices and fresh oranges have been added to the old scale.

"There are only a few changes in the old ration scale, providing more of some commodities and less of others, but it all adds up to more nutrition," Lt.-Col. C. S. Jones of the supply and transport branch said.

"The increase in vitamin 'C' is the main thing," added Col. Jones, who also is a member of the standing committee on nutrition. "The daily intake of calcium for each man has been increased too."

Ham has been added as an exchange ration, or alternative, for beef, a standard commodity.

Where the present standard ration now calls for 14 ounces of beef, and the same quantity of bread and potatoes daily per man, the new scale calls for only 12 ounces of each of these commodities.

EDUCATIONAL TOUR

Calgary. — On the first leg of an educational tour arranged by Co-ordinating Councils for Auxiliary Services in cities across Canada, a group of graduate Sergeant Pilots of the Royal Air Force, who have completed their training in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, were entertained by the local Co-ordinating Council of Calgary and were welcomed by Mayor Andrew Davison in his capacity of Vice-Chairman of the Calgary Council. The party left to continue their tour and were accompanied by Flight Lieutenant G. A. P. Brickenenden of No. 4 Training Command.

The following scores were posted as a result of last week's President vs. Vice-President Matches.

F. Benz 88; F. Holmes 86; E. Wright 96; E. Shuman 72; B. Fessenden 92; C. F. Nicholl 104; D. A. Perry 83; W. McNeill 89; M. MacLeod 100; J. L. Kerr 98; T. S. Hughes 96; A. Pierson 84; Jack Webb 87; H. C. Clifford 86; L. R. Jones 96; H. C. Willson 111; Geo. Koch 100; Nels White 85; Tom Brown 99; R. J. Russell 95.

The Club is working hard to put the course in shape for the big annual tournament on May 23, 24 and 25, which is the Club's next event.

PUBLIC MEETING OF A. T. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bow Valley Sub-Local of the A. T. A. will be in the nature of a Public Meeting. Mr. M. MacLeod, Supervisor of School and the Rev. L. T. H. Pearson will be the speakers. The general public are cordially invited and we hope a goodly number will be present.

Time — 8 p.m.

Place — Strathmore High School.

Date — Wednesday, 13th May.

The regiment had just arrived in India, and were being given a few "do's" and "don'ts" by the Irish colonel.

"The trouble is," he said, "lots of fellows come out here and do nothing but eat and drink and then die. Then they write home and say the climate has killed them. Of course, people die in India. Tell me a country where they don't, and I'll go and end my days there."

On the other hand the fresh milk ration has been raised from 10 ounces per man to 15. The sugar allowance has been cut from three to two ounces daily for each man, but this still leaves the service man with two ounces more each week than the civilian who has 3-4 of a pound.

The 1914-18 army scale of rations, compared with today's scale and the amended scale effective next month, shows less variety in the food, but larger allowances of meat, bread and potatoes than in either of the modern lists.

THE OUT-SIDE

300 Year Old Egg Found—

An egg laid by one of the first hens to cackle and scratch in what is now the province of Ontario, has been unearthed from the ruins of Fort Ste. Marie in the Georgian Bay district. The mission residence of the Jesuits is the fourth oldest place of habitation for the white man in Canada. When built in 1639, it was 700 miles inland from Quebec and a six weeks trip by canoe and portage. Now the convenient way to reach the site and the shrine is by Canadian National Railways over a line from Toronto. The egg was found eight feet underground and well preserved but not recommended for the table. Archeologists of the Royal Ontario Museum, who are excavating the old fort, state that the hen came up the Champlain road from Quebec and was carried over a dozen portages before being laid loose in the old fort poultry run, in what was then Huronia. The old fort was destroyed in 1649 when the Iroquois conquered the Huron Indians.

A General Retreats—

General Robert E. Lee could never realize the profound respect and affection in which he was held by his countrymen. One day, several months after the close of the War between the States, he visited Astor near his home in Powhatan County, Virginia, and chatted with the proprietor about crops and other topics of local interest. News of the General's presence was quickly noised about the village, and a large crowd soon congregated in the store for a glimpse of the beloved figure.

Suddenly turning about and noting the crowd, General Lee exclaimed apologetically. "Oh, Mr. Sanders, I never realized I was keeping you away from so many customers. Please pardon me!"

And then Lee beat a hasty retreat.

Water Substitute—

In hot countries, the cucumber can substitute for water and may be preferred to either the water-melon or muskmelon, since it is not sweet.

Armed With Ideas—

By Christopher Morley.

A man I know went off for service overseas. He had to equip himself for at least a year and for all sorts of chances, both certain and uncertain. He left behind on his bookshelves seven little empty spaces. A stranger wouldn't know where the spaces were, but I'll tell you what had been there. The Bible, Shakespeare, St. Augustine, a pocket atlas, and Robert Bridges' little anthology "The Spirit of Man" (which had seen service in one war already), and the two great books about whales—"Moby Dick," and its natural companion about the great whale of literature, Boswell's "Life of Johnson."

I am not idiot enough to suppose that kind of Iron Ration can be standardized. These choices were singular, partly dictated by the special circumstances of a very long journey. Those books might be lost or left behind; that doesn't matter. The point is he is stronger and happier for having them in his kit. The mere fact that he knows they exist means he will never be lonely...

Southern Ireland, Neutral, Fears Invasion

This is the 15th of a series of stories about a trip to London and return, taken by a group of Canadian newspaper men at the invitation of the British Government. It is written by Hugh Templin, who represented the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

● Every day of the six weeks or more spent away from home seemed to provide something new and different, but nothing was quite so unexpected as a two day holiday in neutral Eire, or Southern Ireland. It was not by choice of mine. I would rather it had been Scotland, but this short, peaceful interlude in the only part of the Empire which stays neutral, was not only interesting, but I look back on it with pleasure.

It was a Tuesday afternoon when I left London, along with seven other Canadian editors. Our hosts put us on the train and bade us good-bye, sending us away with more presents—this time envelopes with enlarged pictures of ourselves during our travels in England.

That night was never to be forgotten. Two huge German land mines floated down out of the air and arrived in Bournemouth at the same time as we did. That experience has been discussed more fully in another of these stories.

I was up early the next morning, having slept fairly well on a mattress on the floor, in spite of the rasping sound of shovelling broken plate glass off the streets in the darkness. There was some difficulty about shaving in a bathroom full of broken glass and with only a dribble of cold, rusty water from one tap, but the lady manager of the wrecked hotel had her staff well enough organized to give me the best breakfast I had while in Britain.

The British Overseas Airways car picked me up at the hotel and drove through streets of stores without glass in the windows, and past English cottages looking out on the Channel, to Poole.

The next morning, while undergoing one more lengthy customs examination near the docks at Poole, the air raids sirens began to wail again. The natives looked on us with some suspicion. Air raids had been scarce in those parts, and this was the second in as many days. But I did not share their idea that these few Canadians were important enough for the Germans to send over raiders just to get us. Still, it did add a bit of excitement to be going out in a trim motor boat, through the waters of Poole Harbor, dodging the seaplane traps and mine fields, to where the winged battleship of the air, the Short Sunderland flying boat, "Champion" rode at anchor.

In the draw for seats, I landed in what was called the spar compartment of the ship. I was all alone in a fair-sized room, full of baggage and sacks of mail. The seat was comfortable, and the steward came and served an excellent meal on light plastic dishes. But though we flew for two hours and a half over what is probably some of the most interesting scenery, I sat brooding at all; the two windows were painted over with thick black paint.

I hadn't realized on the trip from New York to Lisbon to England, how difficult it is to travel around war-time Europe. In a way that was little short of miraculous, as I learned later, the British Council had waved aside the difficulties on that trip.

The return voyage wasn't quite so easy. As I sat alone in the spar compartment of the huge "Champion," I read a little booklet issued to war-time travellers by the British Overseas Airways, and marvelled that I had got out of England at all. Our good ship would refuel in Ireland and take off for Portugal. The next morning, I would be in Lisbon and by Sunday I would be home in Canada—so I thought.

Truly the Emerald Isle.—

It was early afternoon when the great ship glided down to the water so carefully that there wasn't even a noise in the cars. I stepped out into the daylight again.

We were in the estuary of the Shannon river at Foynes, Ireland. On the river bank two hundred yards away, was a big concrete and timber pier, with a neat little customs house at the land end. Behind that were two or three buildings where a couple of railway cars were being loaded with peat. On both sides of the river were hills, just as green as ever they had been described. So this was Ireland!

I never ceased to admire the fast launches of the British Overseas Airways. It took only a few minutes to reach land. The wait in the customs house seemed unnecessary, but when the examination took place, it was brief and informal. Men in green put a few chalk marks on my brief case and club bag, already decorated with an imposing array of airline stickers and official seals. They made one more entry in my passport.

None of us knew that we were to stay overnight in Ireland instead of going on to Lisbon. When an official broke the news, we did not like it. The countryside was green enough, but uninviting.

Two modern buses waited outside. The only thing unusual was the name of the company printed in two languages, English and the strange old text of the Gaelic language. Not till then did I realize that Southern Ireland was bilingual. "Sure," says an Irishman, "we can be illiterate in two languages now!"

It was a drive of twenty miles to Adare, where we were to spend the night, but the roads were winding and narrow, with walls along each side, and plenty of stones still left in the fields. The tiny whitewashed cottages were picturesque but poor. By the time we pulled into Adare, the speedometer must have indicated 30 miles at least.

Late that night, I walked with B. K. Sandwell and the constable of Adare, past a thatched cottage, past an old Norman tower, now part of a Catholic church, past ancient trees with six-foot trunks, and on down the main street of the village. The chief was full of Irish lore and a bit of a poet. He said that Adare was the most beautiful village in the whole world. Probably he's right.

A Strange and Ancient People—

I went to Ireland with a prejudice against the country. I had just come from England, where the people were fighting forth their very lives and for the freedom of the world. Here, next door, was Ireland, not only neutral but refusing even the use of ports to fight submarines. Yet these Irish still enjoyed the privileges of Empire.

I came away with the feeling that Ireland is beautiful and the Irish people are kindly, hospitable, but beyond the understanding of a Canadian with Scottish blood. Here in Sweet Adare, the Irish people did not seem to understand what was going on in the world today. They lived in the far past. One might have thought that Cromwell had come that way just last year and laid waste the old Black Abbey and the Franciscan Abbey and the White Abbey, not forgetting Desmond Castle, down by the stone bridge over the river.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

COMMENCING Monday, May 11th the Dominion-wide campaign for funds for the Red Cross to enable this Society to carry on its excellent work, will be inaugurated from Coast to Coast.

There is no appeal which should commend itself more highly to the public, and elicit more wholehearted support from everyone than that of the Red Cross.

When sickness or wounded, either before or after the conflict, have to lie in hospital, it is the extra bits of comfort provided by the Red Cross that cheer and frequently are the cause of the turning point back to health again.

And when if so unfortunate as to be taken prisoner, it is the parcels of food provided by the Red Cross which maintain life itself. This we have from the experience of a prisoner in Germany in the last war.

Knowing this—picture yourself in the place of any of the above—then you will not need to be urged to give liberally when the canvasser calls on you next week.

If all the little special comforts and kindnesses provided by the Red Cross were omitted, war would take on a more brutal aspect than it does even now.

Lieut. Frank Sowden, a well known local man writing to his wife, from a Hospital somewhere in England says, "The Red Cross people are wonderful to the boys in here—so give them all the help you possibly can."

Troops Get Open Collar on Summer Uniforms—

A new scale of issue of summer uniforms for soldiers was announced today by the district ordnance officer of Military District 13.

The jackets will have an open collar and the troops will be permitted to wear collar and tie. The open collar will replace the issue of last year which was a closed-neck jacket.

Two pairs of shorts and one pair of long trousers will also be issued free of charge. Last year the long trousers were issued only on repayment.

It was stated that the new summer uniforms will be available before June 1.

Engine Bears Canadian Name On Britain's Southern Railway

THIS newest and smartest of the new "Merchant Navy" series built and operated by the Southern Railway was appropriately named "Canadian Pacific" at a ceremony recently in Victoria Station, London, in the presence of a guard of honor and officials of both the Canadian Pacific and the Southern Railways. The latter company, one of Britain's great railways, conceived the happy idea of naming each of these engines after one of the steamship companies serving the port of Southampton, peacetime berth of the Canadian Pacific's great white Empresses, when in war-time camouflage are now acquiring themselves with notable gallantry.

The powerful new locomotive, whose streamlined sides bear the Canadian Pacific's name and familiar red and white house flag in gleaming enamel, was officially christened by F. W. Motley, acting European manager for the C.P.R. in London. He was introduced by Robert Holland-Martin, C.B., chairman of the Southern Railway.

A message of appreciation from Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., L.D., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway was read during the ceremony. "We consider it a great honor," Sir Edward said, "to have a Southern Railway locomotive designated 'Canadian Pacific' and look upon it as a tribute to the men of our own fleet who have lost their lives at sea or are still serving heroically."

A glimpse of the "Canadian Pacific" appears above, while inset is shown the engine's glittering name-plates with the chequered house flag of the company's steamships. Designed for both passenger and freight service, the new engine will be clad in "battledress" for the duration, after which it will appear in the glamorous green that characterizes the Southern Railway's engines in peacetime.

Some post-war settlement plans have been made. Men leaving the Army and entering any work that comes under the Unemployment Insurance scheme are credited with the time spent on Military Service since July 1, 1941, and the people of Canada pay the premiums. Employers are compelled to reinstate ex-members of the Forces in their former places. Discharged men who have no trade will be given Vocational training and their families maintained by the State while they are taking such training. Young men whose education was interrupted will be supported while completing such courses and their tuition fees paid by the State. Discharged men who are for a time incapacitated or who are capable of or awaiting work can be paid benefits of Grants of $9 a week for single men and $13 a week for married men for a period up to 52 weeks.

As the result of a Questionnaire some 32,000 of those enlisted have asked to be allowed to farm. It is clear that help should be given to these young men and a plan has been worked out to avoid the disaster of the last Soldier Settlement Scheme. The settler must himself put up 10 per cent of the value of the land, improvements and building material. If certain conditions are met, the State contributes 1-3 of the cost of the land and buildings and a further cash grant of the cost of the stock and equipment given the Veteran. If the maximum costs permitted by the Bill are reached, the debt must not exceed 50% of the enterprise of any one settler. There are 70,000 farmers in Canada over 65 years of age who have no sons to carry on their farms.

The State will give assistance to the returned men who wish to enter the professions or the business life and similar tuition and help will be given to those who wish to farm. The terms of this Scheme are much better than the terms of the Soldiers' Settlement Act but, as we all know, the success of farming depends on many factors over which we have no control and time alone will tell of the success or failure of the venture.

"A CALL TO ARMS"

The result of the Plebiscite settles the matter of securing men for active service. With that out of the way, serious consideration should be given the need of filling the ranks of the Reserve Army.

When this was first formed in this district, the appeal was made for young men. At that time there were more recruits for the Active Army than could be fully equipped, and it appeared it was the intention to draw men from the Reserve to the Active Army as they were needed. This is just what happened with the result that the loss in men to the Reserve Army means that they are now away below strength.

Japan's entry into the war creates a situation where the need of a strong home guard is imperative.

This war will be won by action. As soon as our offensive takes place, and it cannot be long delayed, every man fit for active service will be required. If we have a strong, well organized Reserve Army, thousands of active men will be released, their places being taken by the Reserve Army.

The government is fully aware of this. The various Reserve units have been reorganized. The call is not for young men. Men with families or other obligations are the preferred class. Those who feel that they would like to do something now have their chance. The requirements, medical category or age, are such that all who can serve have the opportunity. Veterans of the last war can take five years off their age. Their experience warrants it and any M.O. will let his conscience be his guide in their case.

We have to make a total war effort, that simply means an all out endeavour to bring the war to a successful conclusion. The opportunity is now offered to give service. We are more than fortunate to be able to be able to do our bit right here at home. There is no doubt as to what is necessary. The need is a strong Reserve Army, and the only way to attain that is to be one of its number.

"We'd be a lot smarter if we put less of our money into our own outfits and more of it into the outfits of the boys who are defending us. How? By pledging ourselves to do without so that they may have plenty to do with!"

AIR FORCE NOTES

Calgary, Alta.— A sound job of proper feeding with nothing of fancy diet or food fads about it— sums the work of the R. C. A. F.'s new Messing Officers (Dieticians). The appointment of Light Officer Kathleen C. Jeffs as Chief Messing Officer, and of seven highly qualified women dieticians as additional officers marks the beginning of this important measure.

Calgary— Canada's 15,000 odd air cadets soon will be able to parade with their own official flag approved by the King. It was announced at Ottawa recently.

One hundred and twenty-nine squadrons of air cadets now are operating in Canada. By provinces they are divided as follows— British Columbia, 12; Alberta, 17; Saskatchewan, 21; Manitoba, 4; Ontario, 26; Quebec, 28; Prince Edward Island, 2; Nova Scotia, 7 and New Brunswick, 1.

The expression "fits a T" refers to the T-square or rule used by carpenters when exactitude is required.

A preacher at a rural church near Conway, South Carolina, watched as the collection was taken and counted and then said— "I thank you for this collection in the sum of $4.15, two glass buttons and one bean."

Teacher Shortage—

Designed to relieve the present and potential teacher shortage in Alberta and keep all school classrooms open, a war emergency teacher-training programme has been organized by the Department of Education. Details of the new program are incorporated in a booklet which is being sent out to all principals, trustees, superintendents, inspectors. It may be obtained free by any interested person by applying to the Department of Education, Edmonton.

New Rules Re Teachers Certificates—

A summary of the war emergency teacher training programme shows that normal schools will open earlier, lapsed certificates may be re-instated by the owner's attendance at summer school, University graduates may be certificated as high school teachers and that four groups of normal students will be sent out to rural schools from the opening day forward.

High School students who plan to enter Normal are urged to apply immediately for admission, and to write the General, English Language, Mathematics and Science Survey Tests at an examination centre on June 1.
From the successful candidates 135 will be selected for immediate training in a special summer session at Garneau school, Edmonton. On August 21 this special group will go out to rural schools to teaching duties. Regular Normal sessions will commence August 10th, instead of September.
From students attending the regular sessions a second group will go to rural schools in October. This and the first group will return to Normal in January. At that time a third group will go out, and a fourth will leave Normal in March for teaching duties.

Grow Flax— It is a Patriotic Task—

It is stressed that no needy student having the proper qualifications should put off applying for normal training. The Department is seeking to obtain certain assistance for such students under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training plan. Former teachers who may wish to take up teaching as a war emergency job may have their certificates renewed after attendance at summer school and the attainment of necessary credits.

A special plea is made to women who hold University degrees in Arts, Household Economics and Commerce to take up teaching work in High Schools. A special short course is being organized at the College of Education, from which they may emerge with High School teaching certificates.
Undergraduates having two complete university years, and certain others with one year, may also attend this course and obtain a Junior High School certificate.

Truck Licenses—The Alberta Highway Board has banned the issue of licenses for trucks operating for hire, and none will be issued except in exceptional circumstances. The order does not affect those who already are in the trucking business. They may still apply for renewal of licenses. But it prevents newcomers from entering the trucking business. Some time ago the Alberta Motor Transport Association asked for such a ruling, arguing that those now in business were not operating at capacity. A total of 21,000 truck licenses have been sold to date.

Don't Feed The Moths—

Since moths are attracted to soiled spots, even if the soil is on a non-animal fabric like cotton and rayon, the first step before storing away is to wash the article or send the garment to the dry cleaners. Place in boxes or trunks made as moth tight and gas-tight as possible by sealing any cracks with tape. Wrapping in newspaper helps too. Scatter about 1 lb. fresh naphthalene flakes or paradichloro-benzene crystals in each large trunk full of clothes and close the lid tightly. If using garment bags or moth bags suspend a few ounces in cheesecloth in the upper part of the bag, as the gas formed is heavier than air and falls. (Same for piano felting). The larvae of clothes moths and carpet beetles may develop in out of way places where lint and dust collect, e.g. in furnace air shafts, floor cracks, behind sideboards. In mending baskets discard clothes and upholstered furniture. Periodic house cleaning, airing in the sun or freezing in winter will prevent much damage.

RED CROSS NOTES

Starting May 11th, the Canadian Red Cross Society will ask the people of the Dominion to subscribe $5,000,000 to finance the work of the Society.

The money will be used for food parcels for Canadian and British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy; comforts for the armed forces, Navy, Merchant Marine, air raid sufferers, and hospital and medical supplies; disaster and emergency, including assistance to Allied Red Cross Societies, and Blood Donor Service. All are vital functions of the Canadian Red Cross — each in itself plays an important part in the structure of this great service for suffering humanity.

As the war spreads throughout the world the tasks of relief assigned to the Society increase until today there is no sphere of war activity that is not benefiting from the good works of this great organization.

Not only are Canadians and Britons receiving the help of the Canadian people through the Red Cross, but supplies and comforts are always being sent to the armed forces and peoples of the United Nations. For example, the Society recently raised $750,000 to send medical and relief supplies to Russia.

The financial needs of the St. John Ambulance are also included in the budget of the Red Cross.

Shortly canvassers will call on the people of Canada to provide the $9,000,000 so urgently required to carry on the work of the Red Cross and when they call householders and workers are asked to give generously.

Cpl. Harry Leigh, who has just recently returned from active Service Overseas, with the Canadian Army Active, and who is now stationed at No. 13 District Depot, Calgary has been promoted to the rank of Sgt. Previous to his enlistment he resided at Strathmore and was a member of the 8th Field Ambulance (Res.) forces.

TILLEY OIL FIELD IMPORTANT STRIKE

Tilley — According to official reports it seems quite definite that there is an extensive crude oil field in the immediate vicinity of Tilley. The Northwest Co. is undertaking development of the project.

A spur line has been laid and many large oil tanks on the tracks indicate that the oil from the area is always on the move. All available storage space had been used up several days ago and Northwest Tilley 2 had to be shut down until the oil could be transported.

This well has been producing 60 barrels of crude oil daily. There is very little water coming to the surface with the oil.

The oil in this area is of low gravity but is a valuable product for refining purposes.

The reindeer herd at the mouth of the Mackenzie River now numbers over 5,000 and supplies the Eskimo with much food and clothing. This is a case of imported stock taking kindly to their new home.

According to a Russian scientist, the human eye moves involuntarily about 100 times a minute.

The Japanese think the fate of China is still in doubt. The Chinese don't.
